STRENGTHENING HOMELAND SECURITY

Lessons Learned Information Sharing: The national, online network of lessons learned and best practices for the emergency response and homeland security communities.

A TOOL FOR ENHANCING NATIONAL PREPAREDNESS

Lessons Learned Information Sharing (LLIS.gov) is a US Department of Homeland Security/Federal Emergency Management Agency program. LLIS.gov serves as the national, online network of lessons learned, best practices, and innovative ideas for the emergency response and homeland security communities. This information and collaboration resource helps emergency response providers and homeland security officials prevent, protect against, respond to, and recover from terrorist attacks, natural disasters, and other emergencies. LLIS.gov provides Federal, State, and local responders with a wealth of information and front-line expertise on effective planning, training, and operational practices across homeland security functional areas.

LLIS.gov is a free and secure resource that facilitates information sharing within the emergency response community.

ONE-STOP RESOURCE

LLIS.gov is a one-stop resource for the most current homeland security, national preparedness, and DHS-related information and features:

- A comprehensive library of homeland security-related documents, including lessons learned, after-action reports, emergency operations plans, and DHS information;
- An online community of experienced professionals from all disciplines sharing lessons learned and best practices through content, forums, feedback tools, and secure email; and
- A free, password-protected system accessible only to validated members of the emergency response and homeland security communities.

LLIS.GOV ORIGINAL CONTENT

LLIS.gov researchers produce four types of original content, approved and validated by subject-matter experts, to capture expertise and innovation at the State and local levels.

- Best Practices: peer-validated techniques, procedures, good ideas, or solutions that work and are solidly grounded upon actual experience in operations, training, and exercises
- Lessons Learned: knowledge and experience, positive or negative, derived from observations and historical study of actual operations, training, and exercises
- Good Stories: exemplary initiatives that have shown success in their specific environments and that may provide useful information to other communities and organizations
- Practice Notes: innovative practices, procedures, methods, programs, or tactics that an organization uses to adapt to changing conditions or to overcome an obstacle or challenge
