LLIS.gov Resources for Incident Management

A TOOL FOR ENHANCING NATIONAL PREPAREDNESS

Lessons Learned Information Sharing (LLIS.gov) is a US Department of Homeland Security/Federal Emergency Management Agency program. LLIS.gov serves as the national, online network of lessons learned, best practices, and innovative ideas for the emergency response and homeland security communities. This information and collaboration resource helps emergency response providers and homeland security officials prevent, protect against, respond to, and recover from terrorist attacks, natural disasters, and other emergencies. LLIS.gov provides Federal, State, and local responders with a wealth of information and front-line expertise on effective planning, training, and operational practices across homeland security functional areas.

LLIS.gov at a Glance

- Online since April 19, 2004
- Over 43,000 registered members
- Over 12,000 documents, including more than 1,600 state and local plans, 600 after-action reports, and 750 original content documents
- Secure message boards and collaboration tools
- Targeted information on current homeland security topics

INCIDENT MANAGEMENT RESOURCES

LLIS.gov's Incident Management page is a source of research, documents, and other information that can help emergency responders, managers, and planners prepare for incidents of all types, sizes, and levels of complexity. Some of the content available in the Incident Management Resource Center includes:

- National Incident Management System (NIMS) implementation resources;
- Recent reports, guides, and research analyses;
- Documents on Incident Command, Incident Site Management, and related topics;
- The Incident Management Forum (a discussion board for members); and
- Related links.
